BRITISH RECEPTION FOR ANSON'S MEN.

Sam English, of the poolselling firm of Frank Herdic & Co., arrived in the city yesterday morning. He and Herdic have been selling pools and making books at the ice races in Canada. Sam never looked better in his life than he did yesterday and he had much to talk about concerning tretters and pacers. He was particularly enthusiastic about a pacing wonder that he had discovered, which, according to Sam's statement, will racket player; Viscount Croishan, who goes probably eclipse all the pacers in the country before next fall comes and goes. During a conversation with the writer the poolseller

"I stopped off at Buffalo on Saturday night to meet a few friends, and I was plainly given to understand that they have a world-beater there, and, from what I can learn, it seems to be true. The horse I refer to is Grover Wilkes by Red Wilkes. He was 4 years old last fall, and made his first appearance at the Buffalo fall races.

A YOUNGSTER'S GOOD RECORD. "He made a mark of 2:23% and has repeatedly shown quarters in '32. Undoubtedly he is a fiyer. He is owned by Mr. Beier, who raises stock a short distance out of Buffalo. Harvey Ernert will no doubt drive the horse next season in the Grand Circuit races. Grover will be entered in the '24 pacing class, and the be entered in the 24 pacing class, and the authorities at Buffalo are convinced that he is another Buffalo Girl. His owner has a number of Red Wilkes coits, many of them are promising, and Grover Wilkes is the pick of them. Ernert is a good judge himself and handled Little Ida last year. He is a mident that he has found a jewell in Grover Wilkes.

has found a jewell in Grover Wilkes.

"During the last few weeks I have paid a visit to Jimmy Goldsmith's stables, at Washingtonville, and, depend upon it, Jimmy will tarn out with some great horses next season. At present he has about 30 pacers and trotters, all good ones. I consider him the best driver in the country and an excellent judge of a horse. Clean will join his string next month, and much is expected of that liorse. He did well in the Grand Circuit last year and will do setter next season. Another phenomenal secer named St. Patrick, by Volunteer, is to be ST. PATRICK A GOOD ONE.

"St. Patrick has already a record of '23 and was driven last year by Quinton. As soon as the weather gets finer Goldsmith intends to move all of his horses to the Fashion Stud Farm at Trenton. He will then take charge of Farm at Trenton. He will then take charge of St. Parrick. It is expected that the latter will soon get below the 20 mark. At any rate it will be interesting to see a race between him and Grover Wilkes, as both parties think they have the coming champion pacer."

Speaking of the Canadian ice races, the speaker went on to say: "The entries and attendance at the Ottawa and Montreal meetings were first-class, but the betting was not as lively as it has formerly been. However, we did a good business. On an average there were about eight or nine starters in each race. Darkness, a well-known Pittsburg horse, was among the starters and did fairly well. The paraness a well-known Pittsburg horse, was among the starters and did fairly well. The weather was not the best that we could have had, but, altogether, there was no reason for complaint. Herdic came on to Buffalo with me and proceeded to Lexington to attend the horse sales there this week. He expects to be in Pittsburg on Saturday next on business. He has great expectations for the computer season, because of the large for the coming season, because of the large number of young horses that will make their ampearance. All prominent authorities hold a similar opinion, and there seems to be no doubt about the correctness of such an opinion. There will not only be numerous young eastern horses, but I understand that the flyers of California will all be here. This will add exciting features to the races. Already we have made fronta will all be here. This will add exciting features to the races. Already we have made arrangements for early meetings. We go to Baltimore in May and also to Richmond, Va. From what I can learn there will be some good racing in Pittsburg during the season. I think the poolselling hill is sure to be made a law at Harrisburg, and if this is done Pittsburg will have some first-class races."

have some first-class racea."
"I wish to add another thing about the ice races," said English. "There were any amount of ringers there, and notably one. That was Deck Wright, the well-known trotter. A Deck Wright, the well-known frotter. A party had him there in the name of "Little Jim." Deck started in the 2:40 class, although he has a 2:19 record. It is needless to say that Deck won handily. The crowd got on to him finally, but not before Andy Welch and others had done good business."

SURPRISED THE AMATEURS. The County Lengue Selects the Four New

Clubs. The meeting of the Allegheny County Base ball League resulted in somewhat of a surprise last night, so much so that there will be many disgruntled amateur ball players in the county to-day. The important business of the meeting was to select four clubs to complete the eight of which the league will consist next season. Two of the clubs selected were outiders as far as the general expectations have been concerned.

Mr. J. B. Jones, of Homestead, occupied the chair in the absence of President McCarthy.

Braddock was not represented at all. There were eight applicants, and they were represented as follows: Emsworth, W. R. Seidle and J. W. Clark; Etna Stars, W. J. Tibby and L. L. Gilbert; McKeesport, F. W. Carson and F. Toreyson; Riverside Greys, Ed Keenan and J. M. Reid. The names of the other representatives were not given,

After the claims and assurances of each applicant had been fully stated, the six delegates representing the Homestead, East End Athletics and the Duquesne clubs revired and had a lively discussion regarding a selection of four clubs. The condition was that each club be admitted by unanimous consent. Emsworth and the Etna Stars were soon agreed upon, but there was a long deadlock regarding the other two. The Sewickleys, the Kuchnes and the Oaklands were each favored strongly, and so were the Greys and the McKeesports. Finally the two last named were selected. The Greys were chosen chiefly because of their good backing and a promise from Mr. Nimick that they can use Recreation Park when the Pittsburg club is away. The Sewickleys were much disappointed, but a member of the meeting stated that the representatives of the club left the meeting before the matter was settled or else the club would have been chosen.

the club would have been chosen.

The representatives of the four newly admitted clubs, torether with those of the old members, then unautimously elected the following officers: President, J. W. Clark: vice-president J. B. Jones; secretary, W. J. Barr; treasurer and official scorer, N. P. Schooley. It was also decided that each club nominate its representative to act on the Schedule Committee.

The secretary will call a meeting when the pominations have taken place.

CANNOT GET THEIR MONEY. William Troy Charged With Withholding

Lottie Stanley's Cash. NEW YORK, February 18 .- Facts have come to light which show that the recent female bicycle race here was a hippodrome. The re-ports sent out to the effect that $10,000 or more were taken at the door as admission fees were untrue. The share of the receipts due the females was something like $812, and Mr. Troy has resolved to only pay a small portion of this to the eight contestants which he entered. One of this to the eight contestants which he entered. One of them is Lottis Stanley, the winner. Troy says that the girls were under contract to him at a salary of $25 per week when riding and $10 per week when not engaged in contests. Lottic Stanley says this is true, but that she was promised extra money if she won. She claims $250.

There was a scene among the parties last night at the Madison Avenue Hotel. Lottie Stanley and the other girls beseiged Troy for their money, but he refused to give up any more than the contract called for. Stanley threatens to attach the bicycles and the percentage of the receipts still to the liands of failly O'Brien, The latter said he paid out $1,300 for expenses during the week. Stanley further says that she did not receive a cent for further says that she did not receive a cent for winning the 100-mile race at Brooklyn lately.

Racing at McKee's Rocks. The six-hour pedestrian contest at McKee's Rocks on Saturday night was a great success. There were 11 starters, and the first four were: Joseph Young, 38 miles 16 laps; John McCaffery, 38-3; Ed Milligan, 36-7; J. Nash, 36-4.

SOME IMPORTANT INSIDE DOCUMENTS.

The Sackville Correspondence is About to be Submitted to Congress.

The Prince of Wales will turn up to see the players play, which means a good thing for any kind of a show in this country, even if the Prince may happen to know nothing about it.

A cablegram from Naples says; Consul General Camphausen has sent out a formal invitation to members of the diplomatic corps and to many members of the best society here, inviting them to see us play a game on the Campo Demarte grounds to-morrow. This would give us a sort of official standing. We anticipate having a good attendance of English and American tourists, but don't expect a rush of Italian visitors, as the sous of Italy do not go much on outdoor sports. The weather is very fine here at present, being clear and cold. Despite the talk of this being the land of sunny skies, we only caught our first glimpse of old Sol since arriving here yesterday. Lynch has goneto Nice, to arrange for our playing a game there during the Flower Festival, a great society event, now in progress there. Our advices from Vienna represent that there is great disappointment there on account Great as this concession appears to be when contrasted with the high-handed course of Germany in usurping the Government of Samoa and practically destroying the independence of the nativesovereignty, it does not comprise the whole of Mr. Bayard's contention in behalf of the Samoans. Mr. Bayard insists upon the restoration of native independence. In his original proposition for a conference, as stated in his dispatch to Minister Pendleton in June, 1886, Mr. Bayard said:

THE ORIGINAL OFFER. No separate protectorate by any nation de sired. Suggest that German Minister here be authorized to confer with British Minister and me, and arrange that order be established. A competent and acceptable chief to be chosen by natives and unheld by three powers. Carroll and Fogarty climbed to the top of Vesuvius, looking for the crater. They came back to the botel to-night, half dead with fatigue. Mrs. Spalding and her son joined the party here. They will accompany us as far as Nice. Ward says he will go to Boston under Kelly or any other captain. He does not know what the Washington proposition is. We are all in the dark about baseball matters and doings at home, and have only had a vague hint about some sort of a classification. The boys are wondering what it is all about. The underlying principle of these suggestions was the maintenance of a native Government, Germany accepted these propositions as the basis for the proposed conference. In a letter to Mr. Bayard, Mr. Coleman, Secretary of Legation at Berlin, says Count Bercham, of the German Foreign Office, informed him that Prince Bismarck had accepted Mr. Bayard's suggestion as tendered

In effect this was but outting into more definite and durable form the previously existing conditions of government in Samoa. These conditions are clearly and succinctly stated in Mr. Bayard's instructions to Commissioner Bates. At the Washington conference, for the express purpose, as shown above, of establishing a stable native government to be supported by all the powers, Mr. Bayard insisted upon the principles enunciated in the Bates instruc-

England acquiesced in this pre tension, and the conference came to naught for the reason that Mr. Bayard would not consent to In many respects he was a remarkable man, and many amusing and interesting stories are told of him. Among others that a friend of his told yesterday was the following: would not consent to surrender either the political independence of his told yesterday was the following:

After the series of troubles which culminated in the proclamation of martial law by the Germans and Mr. Bayard's protest against German aggressions, Prince Bismarck proposed 'A resumption of the consultation which took place between the representatives of Germany, England and the United States in 1887 at Washington."

It may be, of course, that the cable dis-patch has not stated the German Government's determination fully, and that the expected communication from the German Office will include Samoan independence among the feat-ures of the proposed arrangement. SACKVILLE'S LETTERS.

The President will shortly transmit to Congress the correspondence between Secretary Bayard and the British Government in relation to the dismissal of the British Minister, Loed Sackville. It is understood that one of the chief points in dispute is whether a government may with propriety retuse to recognize the official rapre senlative of a country without the latter's assent. Lord Salisbury is said to maintain that a Minister should be permitted to re-main at his post until his own Government is satisfied that his usefulness is impaired. Mr. Bayard holds that he may be dismissed as soon as he ceases to be acceptable. One of the theories advanced in explana-tion of the British Government's 'delay in sending another Minister to this country is that the British foreign office is embarrassed by the difficulty of re-locating Lord Sackville. It may be assumed that it is not easy to dispose of a diplomat who has been dismissed by the country to which he has been accredited and as Lord Sackville is still a member of the diplomatic service, it is necessary to provide for him somesary where. where. It is not believed in well informed circles that the delay is intentional or is meant to be construe senting the treatment of Lord Sackville by the Cleveland administration.

Thomas McMichael is a candidate in Sixth ward for Select Councils against Mr. Williams. The following affidavit explains it-Personally appeared before me, Thomas McMichael, who, being duly sworn according to law, deposeth and says that the circular purporting to have been issued by Lodge No. 284 of American Mechanics is a hase fabrication, and a weak invention of the enemy, wholly unworthy of any attention, and only serving to show the desperation of its unscrupulous authors; that the first intimation he had of its contents received on the eve of election, and that he enounces it as emanating from the opposition for political effect. Continued from First Page. Adams gave 613 majority against the local option measure. The county is Democratic by a small majority, but all party lines are lost there in this campaign. For instance George D. Thorn, Chairman of the Republican County Committee said the other day.

lican County Committee, said the other day: After diligent inquiry among representative men of all parties as to the result of the prohibition amendment special election, I find the predominating opinion to be that there will be a small majority in favor of the amendment in this county. None, however, are positive in their opinion either way. It's impossible to give figures, as the vote will no doubt be very light in all farming communities.

.TWO "F'S"-FOR AND FORNINST. Lying alongside of Adams on the west is Franklin county. There seems to be no doubt that it will also vote for the amendnent. In 1873 she adopted local option by 853 majority and the sentiment indicate that this may be increased to 1,000 in this campaign. Ever since that day the temperance people there have retained their organization and wherever an opportunity occurred they showed how active they migh become. The agricultural vote predomi-nates, and with most of the Scotch-Irish descendants a strong feeling in favor of moral reforms exists. The prohibition idea has always been popular with the people and, through the agitation by the W. C. T.

Fulton county will be against the amendment, according to Hon. George W. Skin-ner, its representative in the Legislature,

Fulton county will give from 100 to 300 majority against prohibition. Local option was defeated by 244 majority. The holding of this election in June brings it in the farmers' busy season and there will be a light vote polled. Our county is entirely agricultural. Our farmers believe that such laws will injure the values of property reduce the prices of farm values of property, reduce the prices of farm products and restrict personal rights. Our largest town, McConnellsburg, will, however, rote for the amendment. Fulton county is Democratic usually by about 300 majority.

THE CUMBERLAND VALLEY. Cumberland county is more important than either of the above because her vote is larger. Within her lines are the towns of Carlisle, Shippensburg and Mechanicsburg. It is a Democratic county, and in 1873 adopted local option by 756 majority. This year sentiment seems to be divided, and the issue will doubtless be closely contested. Mr. C. P. Adams, Chairman of the Republican County Committee, says: The amendment will carry Cumberland county by 1,000 majority, unless the third party Prohibitionists dominate the campaign. In the latter event the majority will be less. Public sentiment is strongly in favor of the amendment. The majority in June is almost certain to exceed that figure. This is only an estimate made early, with possibly insufficient data, yet the result of the June election will reveal the truth of the prediction.

Why E Miller Chairmen of the Dome.

Wm. E. Miller, Chairman of the Demo eratic County Committee, says: The prohibition amendment has been discussed but little and no man is competent to make an estimate. Many of our own citizens have not yet made up their minds as to how they will cast their ballots. I am inclined to think the amendment will be defeated in this county. The prohibition vote last election was 256.

CANADA GETTING RESTIVE.

She Wants to Negotiate Her Own Treatle With the United States. OTTAWA, February 18 .- Prof. Goldwin

Smithyhr, apostle of the "unrestricted reciprocity" movement, was the central figure in the House of Commons this afternoon as he listened to the debate on a resolution introduced by Sir Richard Cartwright that Canada should have the right of negotiating her own treaties. Mr. Cartright spoke for one and a half hours in support of his resolution. He took the view that a great necessity existed why the Dominion should be able to make her own treaties. If the Canadian agents responsible to Parliament had visited Washington vabeen settled long ago. Canadian in-terests, he contended, cannot be trusted in English ambassadors' hands. This is a fundamental principle. He said Canada had been driven into a dangerous position in the spring of 1887 with the American nation, when it was indignant and exasperated at the treatment ac-corded American fishermen by the Dominion authorities."

George B. Foster, Minister of Finance, replied that the political Mecca of Liberals seems to be the United States and that Canada has all the latitude she requires in the regotiation of treaties. When a di-vision was called at 10:45 the resolution was defeated by a majority of 28. The vote was, yeas 66, nays 94.
